Job Description:

We are seeking real estate professionals, who wish to begin a career in the professional and dynamic industry of Commercial Real Estate (CRE). We are hiring people to assist senior brokers with their clients and overall business activities while gaining an understanding of many of the various aspects of CRE brokerage. Your first undertaking will be learning the trade with direct mentoring by senior management and brokers.

Responsibilities include active participation exclusively representing clients and customers of the firm in their property needs including; selling, leasing, acquiring, managing, valuing and all other necessary aspects of our clients' needs. Senior management and senior brokers will take on the responsibilities of working with you to help you establish a long term, successful career.

NAI James E. Hanson has been in this industry for almost 60 years! As a broker in our company, you will be able to take advantage of cutting edge software and hardware supported by a complete in-house administrative and marketing staff.
